

Wealth Matters – June 2019

5G: Everything is about to change

On screen:

Everything is about to change.

5G is the new international standard for wireless networks.

Rapid exchange of data allows:

Constant monitoring, greater efficiency, and much more interaction between machines, which will give rise to the internet of things, smart factories and autonomous vehicles.

It will mean improved network coverage

And instant download speeds.

5G will propel us into the fourth industrial revolution.

Regulation, cost and political uncertainty are among the concerns.

But opportunities for telecoms, tech companies and entrepreneurs are huge.

Roughly USD275bn in private sector investment is needed in the coming years.

And shareholders stand to benefit from 5G innovations.

Find out how you can potentially leverage 5G in your investment strategy by speaking to your Relationship Manager or Investment Counsellor