

Video TranscriptAnnabel Spring video

You know, this event is classic HSBC in action.

People from all over the world getting together to really discuss ideas, interact, get to know each other.

But my real vision is that we help them understand those opportunities and the choices that they make contribute to a sustainable world.

I'll be candid. There's a lot of coffee in my morning routine, but then I get up early and my day's a mix of clients, colleagues, and a lot of reading.

My number one piece of advice is curiosity leads to success.

Now, if you're curious about things, you understand them more.

You learn more about ideas or about people, and that for clients, for colleagues, that is the number one.